SBN Announcements

Free Access to a Special Issue of Hormones and Behavior
Elsevier and SBN are pleased to announce that there is free access during October 2013 to the Hormones and Behavior Special Issue: Puberty and Adolescence edited by Cheryl L. Sisk and Sheri A. Berenbaum (Volume 64, Issue 2, pages 173 - 420, July 2013). This is freely available during October 2013 to all visitors to Science Direct. Please pass this information onto your colleagues beyond SBN.

Call for Nominations to Serve on the Professional Development Committee

We are seeking nominations to replace five members rotating off the committee this year. There are three open positions for regular members of SBN, one position for a graduate student member, and one position for a postdoc member. Self-nominations are welcome and encouraged. Term of office is four years. The Professional Development Committee is co-chaired by Jennifer Swann and Erin Keen-Rhinehart. The committee is responsible for organizing the professional development activities at the annual meeting, and in conjunction with the Program Committee, selecting speakers for Young Investigator Symposium at the annual meeting. Please send nominations to Cheryl Sisk at sisk@msu.edu.
