MEETING INFORMATION

Society for Behavioral Neuroendocrinology Annual Meeting in 2015

The SBN Annual Meeting will be held on June 10 - 14, 2015, in Asilomar, CA. Mark the dates on your calendar.

The Society for Social Neuroscience (S4SN) Annual Meeting 2014

The Society for Social Neuroscience (S4SN) will be holding its 5th Annual Meeting in Washington, DC on November 13 - 14, 2014 at the Renaissance Washington, DC Downtown Hotel. The meeting will consist of a keynote address by Dr. Michael Meaney, symposia discussing topics of social neuroscience from both the human and animal model perspectives, Early Career Award, Hot Topics Session, and two poster sessions. To view our scientific program, please visit: <http://s4sn.org/2014-scientific-program/>. For more information you can visit our website at www.s4sn.org.

BOOK INFORMATION AND JOB POSTINGS

Dr. Michael Numan has authored a new book (published by Elsevier) - Neurobiology of Social Behavior: Toward an Understanding of the Prosocial and Antisocial Brain. See: <http://store.elsevier.com/product.jsp?isbn=9780124160408&pagename=search>

Faculty Position (tenure-track at the Associate or Full Professor level) in Behavioral Neuroscience, Department of Psychology, University of Massachusetts at Amherst (<http://www.psych.umass.edu>). For application, visit <http://umass.interviewexchange.com/jobofferdetails.jsp?JOBID=53191>. Review of applications begins on Oct 31, 2014.

Faculty Positions (tenure-track) in Neuroscience. As part of a strategic campus-wide investment in neuroscience, Florida State University invites applications for up to five tenure-track positions. This faculty search is open with respect to rank and academic department, including departments represented in the interdisciplinary program in neuroscience (www.neuro.fsu.edu). Areas of interest span molecular, genetic, cellular and physiological mechanisms underlying normal and disordered brain function. Applicants are asked to provide a single document in PDF format containing a letter of application, a full CV that includes links to recent publications, a two-page narrative describing their research interests and a brief teaching statement to brain-initiative2014N.search@fsu.edu. Applicants should also arrange to have three letters of recommendation sent to brain-initiative2014N.letters@fsu.edu. Review of applications begins on November 1, 2014 and will continue until the positions are filled.

Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Behavioral Neuroscience, Department of Psychology, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL (<http://www.psy.fsu.edu>). For application, visit <http://apply.interfolio.com/25899>. Review of applications begins on November 1, 2014. Inquiries about the position may be directed to Dr. Lisa Eckel eckel@psy.fsu.edu.

Research Assistant Professor (tenure-track) in Department of Biological Sciences, North Carolina State University (NCSU), Raleigh, NC. The successful applicant will join a new research laboratory headed by a senior faculty member (Emilie Rissman) just setting up at NCSU in the fall of 2014. The laboratory focus is in epigenetic mechanisms underlying endocrine disrupting compound actions on brain, behavior and germ cells. For application, please send a cover letter, CV and contact information for at least three references to Emilie Rissman at emilie.rissman.su14@semesteratsea.org. Review of applications will begin soon and continue until the position is filled.

Postdoctoral Fellow in Behavioral Neuroendocrinology. The position will be in Emilie Rissman's lab that is currently located in Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Genetics at University of Virginia, but will be moving to Department of Biological Sciences, North Carolina State University (NCSU), Raleigh, NC. The successful candidate should have multiple papers in high quality journals, training in behavioral neuroendocrinology and interests in genetics/epigenetics. Applications (CV, a statement of research interests and the names of three references) should be submitted to Emilie Rissman at rissman@virginia.edu.
